

Short Date Table of Cancellations for Hail Policies

1. When the cancellation of a policy is desired by the insured, the policy must be returned by registered mail to the office from which it was issued. Cancellation shall become effective from the date of such mailings only, and cannot be dated back.
2. When the crop has been cut or otherwise harvested (irrespective of the date upon which such harvesting occurred) the liability with respect to that portion of the insured crop so harvested shall cease, and the premium thereon shall be deemed to have been fully earned.
3. Cancellation of Insurance on growing crops which becomes effective on any date hereunder specified shall be subject to the payment of earned premiums as set forth on the following table:
